

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for determining a product inventory buffer. An anticipated product demand is estimated by a buyer at the start of a time period and the realized demand is determined at the end of the time period. A relationship is determined between the anticipated and the realized demand over a plurality of time periods and statistically analyzed to determine the inventory buffer for a target shipping confidence.